

Literacy:

Here are some titles of adventure stories. Can you write an interesting ending for each one?

The Land of Darkness

The Golden Key

Mystic Island

What makes a good ending?

Include WOW words and up level your punctuation and connectives!

Numeracy:

Ask a question at home to gather some data...

Example: What is your favourite TV show?

You could ask about favourite colour/food/fruit/hobby etc.

Create a tally chart and then convert this into a bar graph to show your results.

Example:

| Programme | Tally |
|-----------|-------|
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |

Can you answer questions that will help to interpret your data? Such as: Which programme was the favourite? Which programme had more than 3 votes?

Other Activities:

Practise your times tables. Use sequences to help you!

Search through the newspapers for any graphs or charts that you can find. This could include temperature information or currency convertors. Bring them to school for next week's work.

Find some WOW words that you are going to put into your adventure story ending next week.
